Dear General Carter:

I would like to invite you to deliver the graduation address to the Sixty-first Class of the U. S. Army Strategic Intelligence School at 1330 hours on Friday, 3 August 1962.

This class comprises ten graduates of the Attache Course and thirty-three graduates of the Strategic Intelligence Course. There will also be present thirty-two Attache Course students of the Sixty-second Class, which will be in its early weeks of training.

The subject of your address I would leave to your discretion. Such talks in the past have been approximately twenty minutes in length. All students are cleared for TOP SECRET. However, if your address is classified no higher than SECRET and you have no objection, the wives of the graduating attaches will be invited to attend.

I am hopeful that I will have the pleasure of welcoming you to the school.

Sincerely yours,

GARRISON B. COVERDALE
Major General, USA
Commandant
